

Radio, Media, and Podcasting

Instructors: Jason McMullan and Joseph Briody

Mondays, 11:15-12:05, GENT103

UNIV 1820.024, PS # 16551

Open to all Freshmen and Sophomores

This course introduces students to the basics of radio broadcasting, audio storytelling, and multimedia creation. Through the production of media, students will learn audio recording and editing, camera operation, and video editing. At the end of the semester, students will leave with a portfolio of media projects in audio, video, and photography.

Students will

- 1) Apply critical thinking and media aesthetics skills to analyze media
- 2) Actively engage in the production of media
- 3) Acquire the knowledge and skills necessary to solo broadcast on WHUS Radio

UConn | UNIVERSITY OF CONNECTICUT

FIRST YEAR PROGRAMS & LEARNING COMMUNITIES
FIRST YEAR EXPERIENCE