This course was created to explore issues pertinent to the lives of student-athletes in their transition to college, their path over their academic and athletic career, and the unique aspects of planning their future. It will likely be most appealing to student-athletes and those pursuing an academic major and/or career that relates to intercollegiate or professional athletics.

Students will gain

1) Enhanced knowledge of diverse issues in sports
2) Increased cultural competency
3) Increased self and interpersonal awareness.